Snow White and the seven dwarfs was the first full length animated motion picture to be produced by a studio. Walt Disney officially released the animated film in 1938, though it received its premiere in December 1937. The movie revolutionized animation with its brilliant visual effects. Snow White ranks among the most popular motion pictures ever made. Disney adapted the story from 'Grimm's Fairy Tales', a famous collection of German folk tales published in the early 1800s.

The film tells how the beautiful Snow White triumphs over the evil plotting of the Wicked Queen with the help of seven dwarfs who live in a forest. Each of the seven dwarfs has a distinct comic personality that matches his name. The young woman eventually marries the handsome Prince Charming.

The movie is noted for its musical score composed by Frank Churchill, Larry Morey, Paul J. Smith and Leigh Harline. Several of the songs have become pop music classics. The character's appearance was based on dancer Marjorie Belcher. Disney took a huge gamble in creating a feature -length cartoon .The expensive film took four years to make.
